Introducing the 'Caburn' Bench
designed by Wales & Wales for Joined + Jointed

A contemporary take on the English garden bench, 'Caburn' is a beautifully proportioned, compact piece that is equally fitting for indoor use. Shown in oak, available also in sapele.

Furniture design collective Joined + Jointed introduces the 'Caburn' bench, suitable for outdoor and indoor use, designed by British husband and wife team, Wales & Wales.

With an unsurpassed track record in designing benches that have become contemporary classics, Wales & Wales's latest offering - 'Caburn' - is an original, exclusive design that features a strong 'modern craft' aesthetic.

Produced in-house by Joined + Jointed's makers, their high level of craftsmanship is beautifully expressed in the way the round legs and rails are joined. The balanced relationship of the different elements gives the piece a structure that is unique and striking.

To provide a sense of visual lightness, Wales & Wales have worked out an elegant, compact proportion, and excluded arms. The scale of the piece means it would sit especially well in smaller gardens and rooms.

Made entirely from solid wood, 'Caburn' is available in American white oak or sapele. Both materials have been selected for their strength and suitability for the option of outdoor use, and are always from certified sustainable sources.

The 'Caburn' bench is available exclusively through Joined + Jointed, online www.joinedandjointed.com or at the Joined + Jointed Chelsea showroom.

Retail prices are £795 in oak, and £875 in sapele.
